GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for July is the 60th appearance of this venerable Magazine. Like old wine it gives one the fruition of age. The number for July needs no especial recommendation as it exceeds in beauty and merit any previous appearance of this old-timed Magazine. Its illustrations are rich and beautiful, while its reading matter, Dressmaking, Household and Recipe departments are replete with entertaining and information. A house without Godey's does not know its loss as each month it contains practical hints of far more value than the price of the Magazine. Those desiring to try it may send for the balance of the year for one dollar, which allows every subscriber a selection of a full-size cut-paper pattern each month. As these patterns are noted for their accuracy, more than the price of the Magazine is received in the value of the patterns. Address, J. H. HAULENBEEK, P. O. Box, H. H. Phila.

—Dudley E. Jones Co., Little Rock, sells Engines and boilers.

The Planet Jr. Cultivator is the best implement made for farmers. Buy one and happy. Sold and guaranteed by Shinn.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE comes to us for July, an unusual brilliant one. It is a beautiful steel-plate, a double-size colored fashion-plate, a double-size colored pattern in embroidery; and about fifty other engravings, mostly of fashions, workable, and things interesting to ladies. The literary contents are even better. They usual. They lead off with an illustrated article on the "Moated Mansions of the Olden Time," suggested by Tennyson's well-known poem, "Mariana." Then comes a powerful novel, "The Passway of Peril," by Mrs. M. Sheffield Peters; a weird tale by Adelaide Mendenham; and a story, Benedict's best love stories; Mrs. Stephens' pathetic novel; other tales, poetry, etc., etc. We know no lady's-book that affords so much, and of such high merit, for so little money. The price is but two dollars a year, with great deductions to clubs, and elegant presents to persons getting up clubs. Everybody ought to take "Peterson." Now is a good time to subscribe, a new volume beginning with this number. Specimens are sent, gratis, if written for in good faith. Address CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The mens and boys low cut shoes at Shinn's are just what our people have been wanting. He has all kinds, sells cheap and guarantees satisfaction.

A Wild Storm. A terrific storm swept over this place at about 11 o'clock Monday night, which for a time appalled the stoutest heart. Wind, rain and lightning fell full sway. Shade trees were greatly damaged, many of them being uprooted. Signs and windows were wrenched from their fastenings, and chimneys and fences destroyed.

In the country the corn crops especially sustained much damage. In the bottoms where corn was over waist high much of it was broken off and ruined. One planter says that fully one-third of his crop is broken off. The damage to fruit trees is not so great as expected. Yet many fine trees are reported injured. The storm was more disastrous west of us. At Clarksville, Cabin Creek, and Knoxville several houses were blown down. At the latter place several business houses were destroyed and the Methodist church was seriously hurt. At London one house was blown down. In the plumes west of here we learn several men were injured but cannot get the particulars. In Gumlog valley the gale was very heavy and damaged crops and fences.

Further reports from the country as to the destruction of fencing, trees, stables and cribs continue to come in. It will be several days before an estimate of the damage in this county can be formed.

Few men are happy, but all desire to become so. Every farmer who buys the Planet Jr. Cultivator is guaranteed that satisfaction.

To the Teachers and Directors of Pope County. The Pope County Teachers' Institute will meet at Gravel Hill, June 23d, '85. There will be a public examination of teachers at Dover on the 25th and 26th days of June, 1885. Respectfully, H. L. RAYBURN, County Examiner.

Thomas Russell, M. D. Judson D. Russell & Co., publishers of New York, are preparing a history of the Russell family in the United States, and the following biographical sketch of Thomas Russell, M. D., after whom our beautiful little city was named, and brief history of the town he founded, will appear in the forthcoming volume. We produce the article, knowing that it will be read with interest by the many friends of the subject of the sketch and his honored descendants who are now residing in our midst.

Doctor Thomas Russell, the founder of Russellville, Arkansas, was born in the Parish of Gateshead, in the county of Durham, England, June the 13th, A. D. 1801. His parents were John and Hannah Russell. After enjoying the advantages of some of the literary institutions of England, in which he acquired considerable knowledge, he came to America, A. D. 1829, and settled near Carlyle, Illinois, where two brothers, James, and Edward Russell, had preceded him. Here he was married to Mary A. Graham, A. D. 1832. In search of a new home and a milder climate, he came to Arkansas, and located in the Arkansas River Valley, A. D. 1835, one year prior to the admission of the State into the Union. He was eminently successful both as Physician and Surgeon, performing surgical operations that baffled the skill of others.

When the civil war arose in 1861, he had acquired considerable property, but the greater part of this was swept away by the privations and desolations of war. He continued an active practitioner until the spring of 1866 when he was stricken with pneumonia which caused his death April 13th. He was a man of strong will, remarkable memory and vigorous intellect.

There now survive him his widow, Mary A. Russell, all five sons, and one daughter. His son, Dr. J. D. Russell, who is at Challis, Idaho, and his son, Dr. J. W. Russell, who is at Little Rock, are engaged in mercantile pursuits; Lawrence Russell is a lawyer.

About the year 1842, when but a small hamlet, this place was named, by a majority vote of its citizens, Russellville, in honor of Doctor Thomas Russell, who was at the time one of the principal land owners, and a prominent citizen. The growth of the village was slow, and up to 1872 it had only developed into a small town. But in 1872-73 when the Little Rock & Fort Smith railway was constructed along this valley the growth of the town received an impetus which gave a gradual development for several years, and at present the population numbers about fifteen hundred.

Among the most important enterprises of the place are its glass, planing mill, grist mill, marble works, foundry, wagon and plow factory, cotton factory, and newspaper, the Democrat. It has a high school building, a Masonic hall, and four church edifices; the Baptist, the Methodist Episcopal, the south Methodist and the Cumberland Presbyterian.

The central location of the town on the line of the Little Rock & Ft. Smith Ry.; the proximity of the Arkansas river (three miles south), with its fertile bottoms; the adjacent hills with their cool springs, and soil admirably adapted to the growth of fruits and vegetables give this little city a future bright with promise.

TESTIMONIALS.

RUSSELLVILLE, May 23, 1885.

MR. J. L. SHINN.

I consider your Planet Jr. Cultivator the best farm implement I have ever seen. I can do more, and better work, in corn and cotton with it than with any plow I ever handled. If I could not get another I would not exchange it for the best horse in this county. J. M. HOBBS.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., June 4, 1885.

MR. J. L. SHINN:

I want to say that the Cultivator, known as the Planet Jr., sold by you is the best one horse Cultivator I ever saw. I have to-day been to the farm where I am using two of them in laying by my corn and am better pleased with them every day. I use them and will never cultivate another crop in sandy land without them if I can get one at all, and I am fully determined next year to have a Planet Jr. to every horse I use in farming. Yours truly, S. N. EVANS.

"He Shook Until the China Rattled."

Shook until his teeth chattered, until he was a shadow, but at last a friend suggested the Santata Chill Cure. He came to Little Rock the next week, and while here purchased a supply. The following shows his opinion of the FAMOUS CURE.

The testimony is that of Col. J. T. Chidester. Read it:

CAMDEN, Ark., Jan. 24, 1885.

Santata Medicine Co., Little Rock, Ark.

GENTS—I have used up the "Santata" and "Able's Honey of Tar and Lemon" that was got in Little Rock. I gave but one dose of "Santata" in no case of chills but what it made a permanent and effectual cure. No one we gave it to has ever had a chill since. Your "Able's Honey of Tar and Lemon" gave prompt relief in every case it was given and it was given in many.

Yours truly,

DIED.

In Russellville, Friday, June 12th, 1885, of consumption, Miss Ida Bayless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bayless.

The hand of death, though guided by all the Powers of Heaven, placed heavily upon a worthy household; and bore away a daughter lovely and well beloved. Having arrived at the estate of womanhood, she was the pride alike of parents and friends. We know full well we cannot flitly touch a subject so tender and so full of sorrow sacred at home, yet we sympathize with the stricken family and friends and remind them that her pure life and triumphant death will ever be a comfort to them until the time when they will be permitted to rejoin her in the courts above.
